The Miller's Tale: Creating Catchy Newspaper Headlines

Catchy headlines are necessary and important to selling newspapers because they are likely to attract readers. The Miller's Tale has the potential for a number of exciting headlines. Imagine you are an editor for The Canterbury Gossip, a local tabloid (sensational) paper, and you are choosing headlines for the next issue. Review the events in the story, and select five interesting events that would inspire the best headlines. List the headlines in the spaces provided below.

Example: Man Marries Young Wife, Keeps Her Hidden From All!
