The Pardoner's Tale Story Board Activity

Imagine that you are working as a children's book publishing company and your editor-in-chief has recently asked you to compose a story based on some images that the Illustrator just created. Using the pictures below, come up with your own stories to follow the images that are displayed below. Feel free to get as creative as you like. Your story should be at least one page in length, double spaced, and typed in a OneDrive document. Get creative and have some fun!
